How to watch curling at the 2018 Winter Olympics

NBC provides both live and taped coverage of the Winter Olympics in the United States.

Given the sheer volume of curling at the 2018 Games, the sport is well positioned to capture viewing audiences across all hours of the day. There's a 14-hour difference between South Korea and the U.S. East Coast, but staggered competition means some matches will be carried live, possibly as part of NBC's main primetime block. That includes the women's gold medal game Feb. 24.

Every Olympic event will be available to stream live at NBCOlympics.com and the NBC Sports app. They're also available on fuboTV.

Location and schedule of events

All Olympic curling matches will take place at the Gangneung Curling Centre, part of the Gangneung Olympic Park. The larger venue will also host figure skating, ice hockey and speed skating.
